

Data Migration Services

Seamless results with a tested migration framework and process

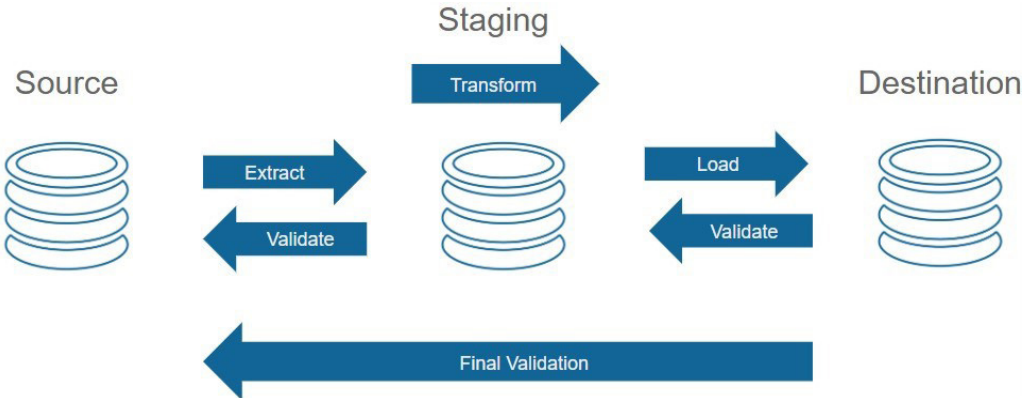

What is it?

Data migrations are essential when building a digital infrastructure for your organization but taking one on internally can be taxing on your staff and push your budget to a breaking point. Before making that decision, it's important to evaluate the size and complexity of the system along with how the documents are classified, structured and stored.

If those answers become increasingly complicated, that's where DataBank's migration services can step in to help. We'll take the burden off your shoulders so you can focus on creating a data-driven enterprise without losing any momentum.

How it works

- Validation: We record, audit, and validate every phase of a migration project against all of your data to help guarantee it's accuracy and safety as it moves from one system to the next.
- Optimization: Our automated document management services integrate with your existing processes to help you increase ROI without the burden of processing that data.
- Integrity: Our number one priority is maintaining the integrity of your data so throughout every step, you can rest assured that information won't be lost, the source is never altered and the destination is always known.
